WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Dec. 5, 1881. Washington, D. C. Dec. 5, 1881.

While the Congressional clans have been gathering and joining in the skirmish over the organization, things in the political arena have been crystalizing. The city is full of politicians, office-seekers and schemers. And as the fog of uncertainty gradually lifts and disappears the well-developed outlines of our new Administration's policy is plainly discernable. The plans and purposes of the Arthur reign are now pretty clearly understood by all observers of political events. As intimated some weeks ago, it is a complete Grant restoration. Garfield and his policies are gone forever, and there is now a stalwart revel in Washington. There has been some ill-concealed affectation about the departure, but it deceived nobody. Grant, Conkling, Jones, Cameron and other representatives of the old guard at Chicago are, and have been from the first, the influences near the throne, and the followers of Garfield are unbidden. The Star Route thieves have felt the sunshine that penetrated their gloomy retirement. Star Route thieves have felt the sunshine that penetrated their gloomy retirement. and they emerge from their haunts in defiant strength. The organs of the stalwarts which live on Washington plunder, were so impatient of their re-venge that they could not wait for the funeral train to frown their defamation upon the memory of Garfield. The Repudiator and Confederate prodigal came up from Virginia, and the fatted calf was brought before him, and the spoilsmen swarmed from every point of the control of the contr compass to enjoy their patrimony.

The atmosphere of the Capitol is pregnant with the changed conditions and the results of returning Republican control in all the branches of the Government. The session of Congress just opening is bound to be prolific of jobs, large and small, and the presence of a lobby more numerous than has hung around the small of leavisition for the small of the point. The wail that went up from those who had previously fattened upon "liberal appropriations" was heard on all of the liberality in appropriations which was characteristic of the rule of that parold carpet-bag and scalawag sort are also sure of the re-establishment of Grantism returned that they have determined to make up a "State Government" of the odds and ends defeated in the late elechall this as a sign of the "breaking of the solid South."

was not in earnest in his professed desire to successfully prosecute the Star route thieves. If any politically verdant reader has heretofore believed the conment's agent while ignoring the facts he produces, but newspapers throughout the country, known to be in very close relations with Arthur, echoing the thieves and seeking to discredit the Government's agent. The prosecuting attorner for the District who is a friend of the any tampering system.

A Milwaukee man writes an anonyney for the District who is a friend of the accused, and by many believed to have been "spgared" by them, openly shows his sympathies against the cases and the Acting Attorney General joins the thieves in throwing official obstacles in the way this particular group of rogues are not mere accidental incidents of a vigorously prosecuted case. They arise from a sympathy and co-operation in quarters where the very life of the people's case is confided. When Grantism and it's creatures are out of the way we may hope to see no more "covering up" of damaging "trails" but until then triumphant robbery is a spectacle public attention must frequently dwell upon.

The quanity of cabbage which is this year sought after at twenty-five and thirty cents a head was a drug in the market in the fall of 1880.

A Food Ration for Milk.

Hay is not rich enough in protein for the best production of good milk, the addition of roots only makes the matter worse; corn meal, while im proving the ration somewhat, cannot alone with hay make it what it should be. The best ration is not, of course, necessarily precisely the same for all cows, and for all conditions; that which would be profitable feeding in one case might not be so in another. But for a guide to work by, until we have one that is proved to be better, we may as well take the standard ration given on the high authority of Emil Wolff, and based on the results of careful experiments, even if we shall not in this way always be led to the best results, it will be better than no guide at all, in trying new methods of eeding and of supplementing the fodder produced at home by importations from without. By this standard a cow 'n milk should have per day and per 1,000 lbs. live weight, 24 lbs. of organic matter or vegatable substance estimated as perfectly dry, containing 2.5 lbs. of protein, 0.4 lb. of fat, and 12.5 of the ration .- Prof. Caldwell, in American Agriculturist for December.

A Vexed Clergyman.

Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience and small, and the presence of a lobby more numerous than has hung around the hall of legislation for years, is already felt. During Democratic supremacy in Congress the lobby had but little show. All subsidies were stopped, and appropriations cut down to the lowest point. The wail that went up from a lobby had been consumption.

It seems probable that a discussion sides here, and the schemers prayed for the Mormon question will arise in the return of Republican control. It has come; and with it will come a renewal after it assembles. Mr. Cannon, the Mormon claimant, had a large majorty. The buzzards who scent the plunder ity of the votes cast for delegate in from afar, are already hovering around Capitol hill. Southern patriots of the Secretary of the State Utah. Mutilated Coin.

As to the question of discounting mutilated coin, an interesting decision was recently rendered by a Michigan magistrate. One Mr. Robinson entered complaint against Edward Kent, a butcher, charging him with larceny in deducting ten cents from a quarter passed to him to pay for meat. The coin had been punched, but no hole made, the punched portion bulging on the opposite side. Mr. Kent waived his right to a jury trial, was convicted and fined $10.50. It was held that no one possesses the right to set a value upon coin issued by the government, that function inhering only in Con-
